The new Quintrex Escape range has been a real attraction for families in boat shows around the country this year.

“The Escape range have been very popular for Quintrex this year and it's no surprise, with the affordable pricing this range is perfect for first time boat owners and people that would like to upgrade from their dinghy,” said Hughie Lewis of Lewis Marine..

“Even though it is an entry level boat it is still very versatile and packed with unique features to get people out onto the water right away.

“With all the models in the Escape range featuring Quintrex's unique Millennium Hull and Flared Bow, they really stand out from the competition,” he said.

The Escape range features a spacious layout as well as a new transom design lean thru windscreens for easy access and plenty of storage space and rod holders.

Quintrex take the hassle out of the boating experience for families with their 'Instant Boating' packages which include a 2 stroke Mariner outboard, Quintrex trailer and three year limited factory warranty.

Families can get out onto the water with the Escape range at a starting price of $15,236 (price excludes dealer delivery, freight, boat and trailer registration and on water costs).
